
Look At Yourself

Artist:

Emmure

Non-Airable Tracks:

2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 10, 11, 12, 14

Label:

SharpTone

Look at Yourself is the deathcore band, Emmure's, most recent album which contains 13 songs. I don't believe I've ever heard any music from Emmure before so I tried to go in open minded and honestly i was pleasantly surprised because I wasn't expecting to like this album but I enjoyed it. I like the instrumentals a lot because they combined typical metalcore along with a few sounds that reminded of something I would hear more in an EDM song which was interesting. Each song felt cohesive and also felt distinguishable from each other. In general I liked all of the songs and though they all sounded pretty good. I would recommend anyone to listen to this if you like deathcore or metalcore-esque deathcore. But if you plan to play a song on this album on your show I would say be careful because majority of these songs aren't FCC clean.

Sounds Like:

After the Burial

Sounds Like:

Chelsea Grin

Recommended Tracks:

1 You Asked for It: Nice instrumental beginning song

8 Russian Hotel Aftermath: It's clean and heavy

Name:

Danielle Perry

Date Reviewed:

03/05/2017

- Deathcore [1]
- Metal [2]
- Nu Metal [3]